

Delay Expert with Anvelo's Expert Witness Services

About Anvelo

Anvelo provides independent expert reports for quantum, delay, and disruption matters across all types of projects. The role is part of our Expert Services division which has been a key part of our ongoing success. You will have the opportunity to be involved with matters across the fields of building, residential, commercial, industrial, rail, civil & infrastructure, oil & gas, energy, and mining industries.

About the role

As a Delay Expert at Anvelo, you will play a critical role in our Expert Witness Services department. You will utilise your extensive experience in construction delays to develop, draft, and present expert witness reports for both dispute and legal proceedings. In addition to your individual contributions, you will guide our team of delay analysts in conducting programming analysis and provide training on technical report writing. Your ability to bring and manage your own clientele will be highly advantageous in this role. Collaboration with our existing Delay Experts to handle the current workload will also be expected.

Key responsibilities include:

- Develop and draft comprehensive delay expert witness reports that provide accurate and reliable insights for both dispute and legal proceedings.
- Guide and mentor delay analysts in performing programming analysis and train them in effective technical report writing.
- Manage your own client base and establish strong professional relationships.
- Collaborate with existing Delay Experts to ensure timely and quality delivery of work.
- Provide expert testimony in legal proceedings when required.

Experience and skills needed:

- Relevant formal qualifications in engineering, construction and/or quantity surveying.
- Proven track record as a seasoned delay expert witness with a history of providing testimony in legal cases.
- Extensive experience in developing and drafting delay expert witness reports.
- Strong understanding of construction project management, scheduling, and delay analysis methodologies.
- Excellent communication and interpersonal skills for client interaction and team collaboration.
- Ability to lead, guide, and mentor technical delay analysts.
- Relevant chartered credentials are highly regarded.

Benefits:

- Competitive compensation package commensurate with experience and expertise.
- Opportunities for professional growth and career advancement within a respected industry leader.
- Engaging and supportive work environment that values collaboration and innovation.
- Contribution to significant legal cases and projects in the construction industry.

Application process:

If you are a seasoned and testified delay expert with a passion for delivering accurate insights and contributing to legal cases, we encourage you to apply. Please submit your updated CV, a cover letter detailing your relevant experience, and any references that can attest to your expertise.

Send your application to careers@anvelo.com.au

Anvelo's Expert Witness Services is an equal opportunity employer. We welcome and encourage applications from individuals of all backgrounds and experiences.

We look forward to receiving your application and having the opportunity to discuss how you can become a valuable member of our team at Anvelo's Expert Witness Services.